The GuLF STUDY is looking at possible short- and long-term health effects of the Deepwater Horizon Gulf Oil Spill on people who helped with the cleanup.

If you took clean up worker safety training or participated in any part of the clean-up effort, you may be contacted to join the GuLF STUDY.

If you think you are eligible but haven't heard from us, don't wait. Call our toll free number now.

Every clean-up worker is important to this study. We want to hear your story.
